IV. POLICY TYPE: GOVERNING PROCESS

B. POLICY TITLE: BOARD ELECTIONS (Approved 7/16/03; modified 11/17/04; reviewed 10/15/25)

1. Election of Board Members

Election of board members shall be in accordance with state law. The District Board shall be elected from the four election subdistricts within Fremont County previously established by resolution of the board. The election subdistricts and the number of members to be elected to the board from each election subdistrict are as follows:

Subdistrict No.	Area	Number of Trustees
1	Dubois, Morton, Pavillion	1
2	Shoshoni, Lysite, Riverton	3
3	Fort Washakie, Mill Creek, Arapahoe	1
4	Lander, Hudson, and Jeffrey City	2

Nomination must come from the subdistrict in which the nominee resides. However, election of the board is done at large. The term of each member shall be four years, beginning at 12 noon on the first day in December following the election except as provided for in the first election of the board, as set forth in the code.

The election of board members shall be held at the regular polling places in each district on the Tuesday next following the first Monday in November in general election years. Not more than a simple majority of board members shall be elected at any election unless the election is to fill an unexpired term.

The cost of an election or equitably proportioned shares of a concurrent election as determined by the county clerk shall be paid by the college.

It is the responsibility of the board to conduct elections within the district for such purposes authorized by the Community College System and Election Codes of the State of Wyoming.

2. Change of Residence

In the event that a board member has a change of residence, so that they are no longer qualified as a resident of the election subdistrict wherein they are elected, then such board member shall be deemed to have vacated the District Board seat for that subdistrict and the vacancy shall be filled as provided in Vacancies.

3. Vacancies

The Board of Trustees shall fill a vacancy in office by temporary appointment in a manner provided by law. If the board fails to appoint a qualified person to fill a vacancy within thirty (30) days from the date the vacancy occurs, or if, for any reason, the entire membership of the board is depleted, the board of county commissioners of the county, within ten (10) days of either occurrence, shall appoint a qualified person to fill each vacancy. Any person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold that appointed office until the next general election at which time a trustee or trustees shall be elected to fill the unexpired term(s). Each appointee shall serve until his successor is elected and qualified. All appointees shall be residents of the election subdistrict in which the vacancy exists.

4. Removal of Trustee

A board member may be removed for cause or change of residence outside subdistrict to which trustee has been elected or appointed. [W.S. §21-18-303(a) (xii)]

The job of the board is to govern the district in accordance with its statutory obligations and represent the citizens of Fremont County and the service area in determining and demanding appropriate organizational performance. To distinguish the board's own unique job from that of the staff, the board will concentrate its efforts on the following:

1. Community Attitude

The board shall take into consideration community attitude regarding controversial issues and subjects relating to the college that need interpretation.

2. Liaison with the Public

The CWC Board as a whole shall act as a liaison agent with the public or with individual citizens.

- c. Governance Process: Specification of how the board conceives, carries out, and monitors its own tasks.
- d. Board-President Relationships: How power is delegated and its proper use monitored; the president's role, authority and accountability.
- e. Other duties as required by law, including but not limited to authorizing bond elections and approving budget as authorized by W.S. 21-18-305.

5. Board of Review

The board, at its sole discretion, may act as a hearing board or may appoint one or more of its member trustees or a college employee or outside facilitator or hearing officer for the purpose of reviewing grievances involving the following: termination of a continuing contract; suspension without pay of a continuing contracted employee; and non-renewal of a continuing contract.

6. Employment

11. Actively Advocating for Legislation

The board shall provide information and advocacy for legislative positions that serve the best interests of the college.

12. Naming College Assets

Major college facilities include buildings owned by the college that are greater than 5000 square feet, the college name itself, campuses, and outreach sites. The president shall maintain a college procedure outlining a process for formulating recommendations to the board for naming and retracting naming of major facilities as well as determining and retracting names for minor facilities and other non-facility naming (programs, equipment, grounds, etc.).

13. Continuing and Other Multi-Year Employment Contracts

The board shall approve all continuing and other multi-year employment contracts.

IV. POLICY TYPE: GOVERNING PROCESS

D. POLICY TITLE: GOVERNING STYLE/ETHICS (Approved 7/16/03; modified 11/17/04; 10/17/07; 3/23/11; 11/15/17; 10/15/19; 9/16/20; 9/21/22; reviewed 10/15/25)

The board deliberates with many voices but governs with one. The board will govern with an emphasis on outward vision rather than a preoccupation with internal affairs, strategic leadership rather than administrative detail, and a future orientation rather than past or present. It will encourage diversity in viewpoints and collective rather than individual decisions. It will strive for a clear distinction between the respective roles of the board and the college president.

1. Code of Ethics

- a. The board, recognizing its responsibilities in conducting the business of the district, and providing for an adequate educational program, accepts for guidance the following principles regarding any member. Accordingly, the board:
 - (1) Owes first allegiance to the citizens of the district.
 - (2) Seeks to provide equal opportunity for all regardless of race, color, religion, sex (including pregnancy, sexual orientations, marital status, or gender identity), national origin, age, disability (mental and/or physical), veteran status, and genetic information.
 - (3) Recognizes that it is the duty of the president of the college to make recommendations to the board regarding personnel which require board action.
 - (4) Recognizes that it is the duty of the board to formulate policies with the president of the college, but that it is the duty of the college president to implement policy through written procedures.
 - (5) Recognizes that funds dedicated to educational purposes must be wisely, honestly, and economically expended.
 - (6) Assists in keeping the public informed about the progress and needs of the college.
- b. The individual trustee is responsible for ethical conduct. Accordingly, the individual trustee:
 - (1) Does not seek special privileges or private gain.
 - (2) Does not use position to promote personal, business, or professional interest.

- (3) Understands that the trustee has no authority as an individual but must act with the board as a whole and must be governed by the decisions of the board.
- (4) Will attend meetings regularly and be prepared to conduct business. To facilitate this process, board members will check board email on a regular basis.
- (5) Will disclose conflicts of interest and abstain from voting on or influencing college positions of such interests.

2. Code of Conduct

- a. The roles and responsibilities of community college governing boards and their trustees are described in Wyoming Statute, Board Policy, and in widely accepted published literature. In addition to these sources, the Board of Trustees of Central Wyoming College (CWC) agree that the following Code of Conduct (code) is essential to effective trusteeship. As a Board, we commit to follow this code and to respectfully remind each other of the code whenever necessary.

Members of the Board of Trustees shall:

- (1) Focus on the future and set aside past events.
- (2) Speak to fellow trustees and Central Wyoming College administrators, employees, students, and community members with respect.
- (3) Listen to and consider others' opinions even if they differ from our own.
- (4) Never criticize the College President, CWC staff, or board members in public.
- (5) Respectfully remind one another of the code in private.
- (6) Comply with Wyoming Public Meeting statutes.
- (7) Support the board decision even if our vote was in opposition.
- (8) Never actively campaign against an item that the board has passed.
- (9) Rely on the College President as the official spokesperson to the media.
- (10) Set policies and allow our sole employee, the College President, to carry them out without our micromanagement.
- (11) Always give direction to the College President as a board, not as an individual.

- (12) Listen respectfully to College employees who contact us, but redirect or report that conversation to the College President.
- (13) Notify one another and the College President prior to addressing sensitive topics in a public meeting.
- (14) Govern in accordance with all statutory obligations and the CWC Policy Governance Manual.
- (15) Maintain personal integrity in aspects of life outside of college as poor behavior reflects on CWC.

b. Enforcement of Code of Conduct:

- (1) Any member of the Central Wyoming College Board (CWCB) who reasonably believes that a violation of the Code of Conduct has occurred may report the violation to the CWCB Chair (or, if the CWCB Chair is the person who allegedly violated the Code, then to the CWCB Vice-Chair). The CWCB Chair shall work with the person who allegedly violated the code to resolve the issue informally if possible.
- (2) If informal resolution is not possible then the CWCB Chair shall request the matter be investigated by an independent third party and bring the matter before the CWCB for a formal hearing. The member alleged to have violated the code shall be given reasonable advance written notice not less than five nor more than fifteen calendar days of the time, place and date of hearing. The notice shall also state the factual basis for the alleged violation and identify the provision of the Code of Conduct allegedly violated.
- (3) Unless the member who allegedly violated the code requests a public meeting, the matter will be heard in executive session pursuant to the Wyoming Public Meetings Act. The board will use the Wyoming Administrative Procedures Act provisions for contested cases where applicable.
- (4) The non-accused members of the board will, by vote, determine first, whether the code was violated, and secondly, if there was a violation, what sanction should be imposed. Sanctions may range from public censure to suspension of travel privileges and a recommendation for removal. If the violation is severe enough, the board member may be removed from the board pursuant to our Policy Governance Manual which states that a Trustee may be removed from the Board “for cause.” (See Policy IV.B.4.)

3. Standards of Good Practice

In support of effective community college governance, the board believes:

- a. That it derives its authority from the community and that it must always act as an advocate on behalf of the entire community;
- b. That it must clearly define and articulate its role;
- c. That it is responsible for creating and maintaining a spirit of true cooperation and a mutually supportive relationship with its president;
- d. That its trustee members should engage in a regular and ongoing process of trustee development and continuous improvement; generally, each trustee is expected to attend at least one national or regional trustee development meeting every four years;
- e. That its trustee members come to each meeting prepared and ready to debate issues fully and openly;
- f. That its trustee members vote their conscience and support the decision or policy made;
- g. That its behavior, and that of its members, exemplify ethical behavior and conduct that is above reproach;
- h. That it endeavors to remain always accountable to the community;
- i. That it honestly debates the issues affecting its community and speaks with one voice once a decision or policy is made.

4. Nepotism

Board members shall neither initiate, participate in, nor influence in any way institutional decisions and will abstain from any votes of the board involving a direct benefit (initial appointment, retention, promotion, non-systemic salary adjustment, leave of absence, etc.) to members of their extended families. Extended family is defined as an individual who is the spouse, parent, sibling, child, grandparent, grandchild, in-law, aunt, uncle, cousin, niece, nephew, or is otherwise a member of the board member's household.

Further, board members:

- a. Must not discuss with extended family members who are employed by the college any college business (outside of official board functions intended for the entire board) that might influence board decisions. (This would include not discussing: all executive session discussions, board policy, personnel issues, or any other decision that might reasonably be seen as inappropriately influencing board or administrative decisions.)

- b. Must not use the family member as a communication channel for college business to any other person(s).
- c. Be cognizant of and try to avoid actions and communications that could be perceived as violating this section.

Violations of this section may be a violation of the Board Code of Conduct (Policy IV.D.2.).

5. College Employment

Board members shall not be employed by the college.

3. Policy statements shall be narrowed until the board is willing to accept any reasonable interpretation of a policy statement.
4. The board will review its policy manual every two years.
5. The policy-making process will be open and inclusive.

Accordingly, the board shall:

- a. Consider recommendations of the college president and that of the appropriate designated college committee related to proposed policy changes.
- b. Consider policy changes only if included in advance in its publicized public meeting agenda.
- c. Require two readings at separate public board meetings for policy changes and/or adoption, unless the board, at its discretion, determines that one reading is sufficient.

Therefore, the chair has no individual authority to supervise or direct the president.

The board is committed to annual or biennial rotation of the Chairperson to the extent feasible. The selection of the Chairperson will be based on the following factors:

Desire, ability, availability of time to complete the obligations of the job, experience relative to the goals/opportunities for the college in the ensuring year, and subdistrict representation.

It is anticipated that the Vice Chairperson will succeed the Chairperson in the following year (or two years, if biennial rotation) if the criteria for the Chairperson can still be met.

In the event that a board member fails to attend three (3) consecutive regular board meetings, or fails to attend a total of eight (8) regular board meetings during any one (1) fiscal year, and such absences are unexcused, then such unexcused absences shall constitute cause for the removal of such board member. For purposes of this policy, an excused absence shall include the inability of a board member to attend a regular board meeting by reason of illness, death in his or her immediate family, jury duty, and any other reason considered by the board at the time to be reasonable and acceptable to justify the absence of said board member.

The chairperson, or any other board member or the college president as designated to do so by the chairperson, shall keep minutes of the matters discussed during any executive session lawfully held under Wyoming's open meetings law. The president shall assure that the minutes are kept confidential, kept and maintained in a safe, secure location for future reference by board members and the president only, and produced only in response to a valid court order.

- a. Meeting discussion content will primarily derive from the board planning cycle and will only be those issues that, according to board policy, clearly belong to the board to decide or examine.
- b. The board chair, considering the long term agenda and input from board members, will establish the meeting agendas in conjunction with the president.
- c. The board will adhere to the intent and provisions of open meeting laws. While the board conducts its meetings in public, the board establishes its own agenda and conducts its own meeting. The board will give a high priority to the college community and citizen participation, but reserves the right to adhere to its own published agenda and any amendments to such agenda as may be made at any regular meeting and to conclude the meeting, to limit discussion, or to take whatever actions are necessary to conclude the meeting within a reasonable time.

Wyoming PBS is dedicated to the production and distribution of quality documentary programming about Wyoming and subjects affecting the people in this state and beyond. Wyoming PBS producers are trusted to craft entertaining and informative content that informs, entertains and challenges viewers.

For purposes of this policy, Wyoming PBS shall be referred to hereinafter as “WPBS.” Also, there may be exceptions to this policy in the case of “contract productions”, when WPBS may contract with another entity or agency to produce a program or series of programs, and under those contracts, WPBS may or may not have total editorial control of the productions. In general, however, all productions with a WPBS copyright in which WPBS does maintain editorial control, and which is designed for broadcast or other media distribution by WPBS, will be held to the following best practices for editorial standards.

EDITORIAL STANDARDS

These guidelines represent a distillation of the standards and practices that have helped nonfiction producers in the past. Producers are encouraged to seek the advice or guidance of the Executive Producer or station management when in doubt.

FAIRNESS

1. All of the nonfiction programs produced by WPBS rest on the expectation that WPBS producers, whether salaried or on contract, are interested in honest inquiry into the subjects selected for documentary production and will approach the making of programs with an open mind. Since publication of truthful, accurate information is a requisite of WPBS nonfiction, locally-produced programs, it should be clear that willful misrepresentation or falsification of program content will be considered unprofessional conduct and will carry the severest consequences.
2. In the pursuit of truthful information, the WPBS producer must be sensitive to issues of fairness, and the appearance of fairness, if the program is to have credibility. Truth is an elusive combination of fact and opinion, of reason and experience. We ask for the viewer's trust. In turn, we promise that the subject matter and the people in the program will be treated fairly.
3. When there are conflicting viewpoints or opinions on subjects treated within a journalistic program, fairness does not require that equal time be accorded to conflicting opinions. However, it does require the acknowledgment of, and responsible statement of, those conflicting opinions.

4. All producers must have a fact-checking procedure at the completion of the program in which every line of narration, soundbite and image is checked for the accuracy of any factual assertion.

FUNDING A PROGRAM

5. Best practice dictates that producers should be distanced from potential funders to the greatest extent possible. Once a project is funded, producers should try and avoid contact with funders except for promotional purposes. The editorial integrity of a program demands that the funder not become a part of the editorial process. If it becomes necessary for a producer to interact with a funder at any point in time, it is appropriate to discuss the importance of the issue, the amount of research done, possible approaches to stories, and a producer's qualifications to make the documentary.
6. It is inappropriate to promise to include or exclude particular information or characters; it is inappropriate to promise to give more or less weight to any particular aspect of a program; and it is inappropriate to commit to a particular film or program architecture.

EDITING AND POST PRODUCTION

Edit to Compress, Not Distort

7. WPBS relies on the honesty of the individual producer in editing any programs, program segments, or any other interstitial element to be aired or distributed as a WPBS production.
8. It should be the objective of the editing process to collect and order all significant facts in a manner that fairly portrays the subject. Whether or not this objective has been achieved cannot be known simply from looking at the result. Thus, a producer might ask him/herself, would he or she be able to defend a particular cut if others had access to the original materials.

Consider Sources

9. Producers are free to exercise their editorial judgment as to which characters are best suited to advance a story line and which sources are best able to present the information the program seeks to deliver.

Do Not Alter Still Photos

10. Photos used in public affairs programs should not be altered. Altering involves adding, subtracting or rearranging the elements in a photo and should not be done without disclosure to the viewer.

11. However, some techniques commonly used with stills are not considered alterations. These include: camera moves, cropping, color enhancement, highlighting a portion of a photo, computer layering, etc.

Use Computer Generated Imaging (CGI) with Care

12. The power of the computer to alter and create images offers many opportunities to enhance all forms of communication. In the nonfiction world, however, there is danger that the computer can be used to create images and graphic effects that cross the boundary between creative license and misrepresentation. Misrepresentation can occur when images are presented as “real” when, in fact, they are artificial. If a viewer could reasonably believe the images created by CGI are real, then the technique should be avoided. Disclosure to the viewer is recommended with any type of re-creation, whether CGI, dramatic or some combination.

Do Not Pre-Screen for Interested Parties, but be Prepared for Legal Review

13. The broadcast, or, if approved by WPBS, the pre-broadcast release of a program at a film festival or theater, must be its first publication. Pre-screenings for reviewers and the showing of samplers and occasionally the whole program for publicity purposes, if approved by the Executive Producer or WPBS management, are established practices, but those are the only recognized exceptions to a firm rule that prohibits others--and most especially participants and funders--from seeing a program before its first publication.
14. Producers should anticipate a legal as well as editorial review of their work. Legal review may deal with the issue of “fair use” of copyrighted material, so all material must meet the “fair use” tests, and all necessary logs, credits and releases must be secured.
15. All materials generated and gathered during WPBS production are the property of the producers and sources. No production materials are available for review to anyone outside the WPBS production team.

Conflict of Interest

16. Any employee of WPBS with a content-related role in a WPBS production who has a material interest – financial, family, political or personal – in a subject of primary or secondary relevance to the documentary must disclose that interest to the producer and the station manager, who will judge whether that interest represents a conflict of interest. If in the judgment of the producer and the station manager the conflict is substantial, the employee will not participate in the production; in other cases, the producer must disclose any institutional conflict of interest to the audience. If a potential conflict involves the producer or the station manager, and is deemed substantial, that person shall not play a content-related role in the production.

Any on-camera participant in a WPBS production who has a material interest, as defined above, in a subject of primary or secondary relevance to a documentary in which he/she appears, is asked to declare that interest, and if the producer and/or station manager deem it a conflict of interest, it must be disclosed to the audience.

Do Not Accept Gifts

17. As a general rule, WPBS should pay the expenses of its producers and staff, and those employees should be insulated from the fundraising that generates WPBS funds. However, to defray costs, producers may negotiate deals for free or reduced airline, hotel, car rental and other services in exchange for a ‘special thanks’ credit. If the entity offering the discount or free service stands to benefit in any material way from the manner in which editorial material is presented in the production, no such arrangements will be allowed.
